Ever since this burden,
for which I must render difficult accounting,
has been placed on my shoulders,
the concern of my position as bishop has disturbed me.
Although I am terrified by what I am for you,
I am consoled by what I am with you.
For you, I am a bishop;
with you, I am a Christian.
The former is a title of office, which has been undertaken;
the latter a title of grace.
The first is a danger, the second salvation.
Furthermore, we are tossed about
as though in a great ocean
by the tempest of our responsibilities.
However, when we recall
by whose blood we have been redeemed,
it is as though we enter into a safe harbour.
It consoles me more that I have been redeemed with you
than that I have been placed over you.

St Augustine, Bishop of Hippo (lived 354-430)
